

Volume 521 April 10, 2014

Market- Natural gas prices continued to rise this week as some areas of the country are still below normal temps and uncertainty about the storage levels. There was a small injection reported and prices continued to rise. Natural gas storage inventories are at record lows as seen on the graph to the right and are below last year levels and below five-year average. Prices are also supported by global increasing demand for Liquefied Natural Gas (LNG). The US gas traditional rotary rig count decreased 2 rigs and horizontal drilling increased 13 rigs. Gas production levels due to shale drilling are still strong. Natural gas is very attractive to fix now and for next winter.

The Crude oil price for May is higher this week at $103.78 per barrel. Heating oil is higher at $2.95 per gal. Unleaded gasoline futures are higher this week at $3.00 and gasoline at the pump is around $3.69...in Indiana. The natural gas storage report this week was an injection of 4BCF; storage is 849BCF lower than last year and 997BCF lower than the 5 year average.
